Title: Llama Out Loud!

Author: Annabelle Sami / Illustrated by Allen Fatimaharan

Background – I won a copy of this book in a giveaway.

The Setting - The book is the first in the series and is set in Brick Lane in East London.

The Plot - The plot is about a ten year old girl called Yasmin who happens to be mute. She lives with her loud family in an ordinary house on Brick Lane. However, her life changes for the worse, when a scruffy, noisy toy llama comes into her world! Meet Levi – the chattiest, rudest, LOUDEST llama around! He brings so much chaos into her life that there is only one solution – he has to go. But, is he actually the only one who is listening to Yasmin?

Comments – This is a really funny read, packed full of LOLs, mayhem and mischief. But, there are also important morals on friendship, self-belief, and finding your voice to stand up for yourself. It is also good to see diverse characters in books which enable readers to relate to children who look like them.

Recommendation– I would highly recommend reading this book, and I give it 10/10! :-)
